Close Vote Is Seen On Rent Control Bill

House Action Is Uncertain After Senate Approval

By CHARLES B. SEIB

WASHINGTON, June. 13. House administration leaders said privately today that they are licked on rent control extension unless they get support from bigcity Republicans.

Although the six-month extension bill, passed Monday by the Senate in a 36 to 28 vote, has the strongest administration support, a break from party policy by a sizeable bloc of southern Democrats is considered a serious threat to its passage.

Going To Be Close The most optimistic comment from pro-control congressmen was a cautious "it's going to be a close Alongside was another which measured over five inches in diameter.

Senate Probers Study Grounds For Jaffe Move

Contempt Citation Recommendation Is Probable In Case

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, June 13 .- Senate loyalty investigators studied legal grounds today for recomn.ending a contempt citation against Philip Jaffe for its refusal to testify on his complicity in the 1945 Amerasia case.

At the same time they foresaw a possible "slow-down" in their investigation of the "stolen documents" case resulting from the current New York grand jury probe of the same matter. Refuses To Answer

Jaffe, former Amerasia magazine editor who was fined $2500 for illegal possession of government documents five years ago refused to answer questions on grounds of self-incrimination.

The New York businessman and his attorney, O. John Rogge, de-clined to state whether Jaffe had been summoned to testify before the federal jurors. But persons close to the congressional inquiry recognized that henceforth the attitude of key witnesses might be colored by the New York proceedings.

If a contempt recommendation is laid before the Tydings committee, it will be the third proposed by chief counsel Edward P. Morgan. He already has urged that former communist leader Earl Browder and Frederic Vanderbilt Field, previous witnesses, be cited Field, previous witnesses, be cited for refusing to answer specific questions under oath.

Some Odds And Ends (By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C .:

Trail's End. He's not the busy bustling figure that he used to be, this short, grizzled, heavy-faced man with the well-known hornrimmed glasses. He has more time now to stop in the corridors and chat awhile with people who recognize him as Senator Claude Pepper of Florida. Time was when the Senator had a million things to do and they kept him on the hop between committee meetings, speaking engagements, political conferences and the Senate floor. But not any more. Rep. George Smathers, once a close friend and youthful protege, took charge of that by whipping Pepper in the bitter Florida primary election last month. People who stop Pepper in the corridors now aren't asking for favors or merely glad-handing a celebrity. They're people who recognize some pathos about the little man and want to say a kind word, even though many are glad he lost the election. With all his hurry and hustle, all his fire in debate, Pepper was never rude, never hurt anybody's feelings. And now that he's come upon bad times, nobody wants to hurt his feelings. Pepper is telling friends that he's been offered a Federal job, but has declined it. He tells them he isn't through with politics, that he's going to run again for the Senate to vindicate his name. When he says this, his friends are apt to nod and look away. Everybody except Pepper knows that Pepper is finished. But nobody wants to tell him so.

and during the past few weeks it has almost ceased to be. Those few persons who believe in a preventive, knockout attack on Russia have been silenced by some rather unexpected news. It now appears from several good sources that the defensive weapons of warfare have caught up with the offensive weapons. Gen. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, spoke of this trend recently in discussing the American arms The new weapons, he said, "are essentially defensive weapons, The things we are doing are of greater value to the person on the defense (than to) the man who is on the offensive." This takes a lot of force out of the argument that Russia must be hit-or forced to make an aggressive move-while her atomic program is still in its infancy. When the Russians recently shot down an American plane over the Baltic, the hit-'em-now spokesmen had a good inning. But we are now going to hear some well-chosen words from the peace-mongers who believe that the United Nations can supervise world disarmament

Arms and the Men. Warmongering is a very subtle art in politics,

Invasion of Privacy? Rep. Frank Buchanan, chairman of the House Committee on Lobbying Activities, has forced his foot through a door-way that's bound to lead to trouble. He recently sent out a three-page questionnaire to 166 business corporations and asked some searching questions. He wants these companies to tell him in detail about the travel expenses of their representatives to Washington, the money spent for telephoning, tlegraphing, and office supplies; the contributions made to eight specific lobby-groups and "any" other group which might "directly or indirectly" influence national legislation.

Buchanan's letter is in the form of a "request," but it's written on official stationery and Buchanan has already used the power of subpoena to command similar information from balky organizations, No businessman has to be told that the chairman's "request" has teet! Most of the companies, according to Buchanan, have complied, But there are the following complaints against Buchanan's investigation methods:

1. Staff members of the committee enter a private business office, demand to see the records and—in one cast at least—make off with personal correspondence which has nothing to do with the lobbying 2. Somebody with access to the committee files has "leaked" confidential information which reaches the public via newspapers and radio. A certain amount of leakage is inevitable with several hundred vigilant reporters in town, but this appears to be a planned output. The information is almost always unfavorable to opponents of the Fair Deal, 3. When the information gets out, it is used as "consumer blackmail" against business concerns which oppose the Fair Deal social

HOT, FIERY GAS

Stomach Like a Furnace

A New Castle man said recently that his stomach used to burn like a "gas factory!" That is, when he ate a meal it seemed to turn right into hot gas. He was always bloated, had gas pains daily. But now this man says he is FREE of STOMACH GAS and he says the change is due to taking CERTA-

VIN. His meals agree with him. CERTA-VIN is a new formula. Taken before meals it works with your food, expels the gas, and thus you get the fullest good out of your meals. It contains Ten Great Herbs, plus vitamin B and Iron. Besides relieving gas, it also enriches the blood (with iron) and makes stronger nerves (with vitamin B.) Rotary Club Notes Flag Day

Richard E. Rentz Speaker At Luncheon

New Castle Rotary Club co-14, the program was a timely one, and fittingly observed the occasion.

The speaker was Rotarian Richard E. Rentz, a veteran of World War Two, and he was assisted in showing the proper way to display the flag, and customs and usages of the flag, by U. S. Army Recruiters, Sgt/1c H. O. Falls, and Cpl. Pete Colia, along with Cpl. Kenneth Hanna and Pfc. William Hanna, of the Organized Reserves.

Traces History Of Flags

An American flag, encased, and on a standard, was on the speakers stand, and was properly unveiled. Mr. Rentz called attention to the fact that since the beginning of time, man has depended on a symbol to represent him. Man needed a token to distinguish his family from the other families or his tribe from other tribes. The Romans, Greek and Egyptians all had their symbols, he stated, and history reveals that the Jutes carried the rampant white horse, first as an image, and then transferred this symbol to a flag. The Danes likewise used the raven, and later the third finger of a left hand, the ring was confiscated and is now n the care of the State. Alderman T. Lewis, a bachelor Magistrate told Attrell that the
